MANUSCRIPT DIVISION

Scope Note

The collection consists of 5 scrapbooks pertaining to the life and career of William Nixon and his daughter Ethel L. Nixon Mounsey, MD. Nixon was a self-taught architect, stage/set designer, furniture maker and civic activist. His daughter Dr. Mounsey was the first African American to obtain a doctorate in psychology from the Johns Hopkins University. Of note are copies of manumission records of Mr. Nixon's parents Buriel Nixon and his wife Maria Nixon. The scrapbooks range from 1871 to 1970.

The scrapbooks were donated by Dr. Nixon Mounsey's daughters Dolores Mounsey and Mera E. Mounsey-Archambeau.

Biographical Sketch

William D. Nixon was born to Burril Nixon and Maria Adams Nixon in 1871. He attended Washington, DC public schools from elementary to high school. He completed work at Miner Normal school. Unable to find work after graduation he travelled to Detroit, Michigan where he was employed as a clerk-typist for several years. He returned to Washington, DC and worked as an art teacher in Paul Laurence Dunbar high school for 40 years. Throughout the course of his life he became involved in the struggle for equal rights through a number of civic organizations. He served as the president of the Oldest Inhabitants (Colored), DC. During his tenure the organization openly challenged the segregation in city employment, the Pearl Buck affair, as well as, advocated for public Emancipation Day celebrations.

Biographical Sketch

Dr. Ethel L. Nixon Mounsey was born to William D. Nixon and Edith Nixon on July 10, 1910. She attended Washington DC public schools such as Garnett Patterson and graduated Paul Laurence Dunbar high school. She graduated from Dunbar high school in 1926. She completed her B.S. from Howard University in 1930 and within four years graduated from Howard University School of Medicine in 1934. She was the only woman in that graduating class. She interned at Freedmen's Hospital in 1935 which led to opening her own medical practice at 1738 Fifteenth Street, NW then to 1300 Rhode Island Avenue, NW. and eventually attended the Johns Hopkins University completing work in the field of psychology. In 1935 she married Frank K. Mounsey and had three children Mera Edythe, Delores Anita and Frances Diane. In 1952 she worked at Crownsville Hospital Director of psychiatric education and training at Crownsville State Hospital she was the only woman appointed to the directorship at Crownsville.

Series Description

- Series A William Nixon scrapbooks Box 222-1 This series contains four scrapbooks created and maintained by William to Box 222-2 Nixon. Mr. Nixon's scrapbooks range in interest from his elementary school diploma to award for free-hand graphic design to numerous clippings on social, political and professional interests throughout his adult life. Of interest is his involvement with the Oldest Inhabitants (Colored) of Washington, DC. News clippings cover topics about civil rights, Jim Crow, Pearl Buck speaking debacle, victory gardens, Mammy monument, public bathing, integration, and related topics
- Series B Ethel M. Nixon Mounsey, MD scrapbook
Box 222-3 This series contains one scrapbook documenting the life and career of Dr.
Nixon Mounsey. Her young life, matriculation through Johns Hopkins University, her wedding picture and professional career are documented with news clippings, correspondence and photographs. Of note is a booklet on Basic Psychiatry authored by Dr. Nixon Mounsey. She wrote short stories. Also her work within the African American community is remarkable.
- Series C Nixon family/Family History scrapbooks Box 222-3 This series is an example of remembrance. The Mounsey siblings crafted scrapbooks for each other as well as children within the family. This unique arrangement provides a snapshot into a unique Washington family whose proclivity of collecting, arranging and passing on family history within the context of larger social issues is unusual.
